Vote Is Four to One; School Board Members Absent From Meeting

By ROBERT E. MOYER (Mercury Staff Writer)

Pottstown's tax equalization committee last night voted four to one to recommend a reassessment program by an outside firm.

After one hour and 40 minutes of discussion, during which each committee member summarized his opinion, Chairman A. Emery Lord polled the five members present, four Republicans and one Democrat.

School board representatives of the committee, composed of members of council and school board, were absent.

Lord reported school board Solicitor Harold E. Binder told him the school district legally cannot contribute to the cost of any reassessment project.

Republicans Lord, Ralph L. Weis, and Paul Marshall voted with Democrat Gustav H. Schade Jr. to recommend an outside firm.

Knause, chairman of council's finance committee, voted to retain the present assessment system and direct the borough's new full-time assessor, Horace Y. Seidel, to reassess the borough in the next year or two.

He qualified his vote for retention of the present system by referring to the J. M. Clemmishaw company's plan to reassess the borough at a cost of from $28,000 to $30,000.

"The Clemmishaw plan is a beautiful setup. But I believe this way, if I can't afford a high-priced car then I must be satisfied with a low-priced automobile and that's the way I look at this."

"I'M HEARTILY in favor of reassessment. But I'm looking at it from my standpoint. I've got to think about where the money's

Burglars Get Over $1350 in Jewelry, Cash

Three hundred and fifty dollars and jewelry valued at more than $1000 was stolen from a dresser drawer of a High street widow last night.

Mrs. Rose Stein, owner of a rooming house at 1336 High street, reported the theft to borough police after returning from a visit to Reading at 10:30 p.m.

On entering her first floor bedroom which faces the lawn on the west side of the house, she found the room torn up. Clothes were tossed over the bed, and the dresser drawers were opened.

Lying on top of the bureau was an envelope in which Mrs. Stein had placed several checks and $350 which she had collected yesterday from tenants of an apartment house she owns at High and Charlotte streets.

MRS. STEIN had placed the envelope in the top drawer in a jewel chest which contained a diamond engagement ring valued at from $1000 to $1200, and a string of cultured pearls worth about $100.

Mrs. Stein quickly discovered the cash and the jewels were missing, and notified police.

She said the thief must have

Man Is Hospitalized For Badly Cut Arm

William Weinstein, 24, of 837 Cross street, had to be hospitalized yesterday when his arm accidentally shot through a small plate glass store window.

The mishap occurred at 4:45 p. m. just as Weinstein was walking up the steps to Richard R. Neimer's grocery store at 130 Montgomery avenue. He tripped and fell into the glass which caused deep cuts of the left forearm.

Taken to Memorial hospital, he had sutures applied to the cut arm, tendons and muscles.

Collapsing Sewer Ditch Kills Worker

By MERCURY STAFF WRITER CHARLES T. HEARN

A Stowe father was buried alive and another man injured when a wall of an 8-foot-deep ditch caved in on them at King and Berks streets yesterday at 11:30 a. m.

Lloyd A. Koch, 35, of 50 Fairview street, Stowe, a West Pottsgrove township commissioner for the past two years, was covered completely by the brown, clay-like soil as he crouched at the bottom of the ditch laying sewer pipe.

Andrew Loric, 32, of 548 South Seventh street, Reading, was standing upright when the wall filled the ditch and was caught up to his armpits by the dirt.

Good Will ambulance crew members Robert Roth, Milford Favinger and Josiah Poley, arrived on the scene in a few minutes and administered resuscitator treatment

In the picture at the left Dr. D. B. Alexander, Pottstown physician, listens in vain for a heart beat with a stethoscope. Dr. Alexander pronounced him dead immediately after he was brought to the surface. Approval Predicted Of Apprentice Course

Pottstown School Board President H. Bert Shaw said last night he believes the board will approve for inclusion in the 1952-53 vocational school curriculum a Doehler-Jarvis Die Casting corporation inspired apprentice training course when it meets Monday night.

The course was tabled at the board's June 30 meeting pending receipt of additional information on it.

Some members of the board felt then that the school district should not help pay for a course in which some non-

Co-Workers Were Horrified At Cave-in

Co-workers of the trapped men at the cave-in yesterday at King and Berks streets recalled the horror and helplessness they felt when the wall collapsed.

John Gamble, 48 South Seventh street, Reading, was foreman of the gang laying the sewer pipe.

"I was watching the bank," he said. "I saw it start to cave in and I yelled but it just caved in fast before we could give a warning."

"I jumped down in the hole with the rest of the men and I scraped the dirt out of Cookie's face with my fingers," he said, looking at his hands.

SAM COOPER, 24 Oaks street, Reading, looked into the ditch and said, "I heard somebody yell down there but I don't know who it was and then it caved in."

"We got down there and Cookie was yelling 'help, help' but we couldn't do much more than take the dirt out of his face," he added.

"Bill" Herbert Mitchell, a crane operator on the project, reflected, "I was sitting up on the crane and it was making a lot of noise and I couldn't hear anything. I finished digging there a few minutes before but I wasn't digging while they were down there."

He brushed some of the brown dirt from his arms and said, "This damn dirt here is no good. It just won't hold up."

Robert D. Whisler, of Road B Hilldale, was passing by the cave-in when he saw the ambulance.

Beating, Robbery Charges Face Man in Court

By ED ZUMACH (Mercury Staff Writer)

Charles Massantonio Jr., 300 High street, was held without bail for Montgomery county court last night by Justice of the Peace Robert H. Yergler, of the Sixth Ward, at a hearing on charges of assault with intent to rob, aggravated assault and battery and breach of the peace.

The two women who pressed the charges, Eloise E. Lisk Hogenkamp, 21, of 300 High street and Mrs. Esther V. Barthel, 348 Chestnut street, and Mrs. Mabel Miller, 265 High street, a witness for the short, dark and mustachioed defendant, were directed to post $50 bond each to assure their appearance in court when Massantonio's trial comes up.

Mrs. Hogenkamp charged Massantonio with hitting and kicking her in her apartment the past Saturday night.

She said her right eye was blackened, her lip cut so that four stitches were required at Pottstown hospital to close the wound, and a bruise on her

Man Gets Help Just in Time

An elderly, white-haired gentleman fainted from the heat yesterday morning when he stepped out of the car of a good samaritan who gave him a lift home.

Mrs. Cuthbert Naim, Douglassville RD 1, saw Joseph King, about 80, who lives at the rear of 434 Beech street, struggling under the weight of two heavy shopping bags at Franklin and Beech streets shortly after 10 a. m.

Mrs. Naim offered the man a lift to his home. King barely could lift his bundles into the car when he climbed in.

He thanked Mrs. Naim when she took him to his home and refused any help because he said he could manage.

But he no sooner stepped out of the car when he fainted.

Mrs. Frank Miller, 430 King street, called the Good Will ambulance and King was taken to Pottstown hospital where he was treated and permitted to rest before being discharged.

It's Cool Here, Traveler Finds After Trip South

By BARRY R. NEMCOFF (Mercury Staff Writer)

"The South is no place to be in the Summer—especially this Summer."

This advice came from William H. Diener, of 614 Jefferson avenue, who returned Wednesday from a sojourn into Dixie that took him as far South as Orlando, Fla.

Glad to be back in his "cool" house trailer, the 73-year-old retired Navy inspector had much to say about the current heat wave that has invaded the Southern States, burning up crops, streams and cattle.

The combination business and pleasure trip took Diener through Maryland, Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida where he said, "In many places the temperature was as high as 107 degrees."

SEATED COMFORTABLY on his little porch with the cool evening breeze gently stirring the trees in his lawn, Diener told how many fishing streams in the rain thirsty South had been closed to the public.

"The drought has reduced the streams to shallow ponds and the fish seeking shelter in these low

IT WAS THE 3D WETTEST, TOO July Was 2d Hottest on Record

July, 1932, entered the record books as the second hottest and third wettest July in local weather bureau history.

The average temperature was 79 degrees, just a shade under the record 79.2 registered for July 1949. The previous second hottest July had been in 1901, when the average mercury reading was 78.8 degrees.

The normal average for July is 73.2 degrees.

There were 17 days of 90-degree weather during the past month, compared to a normal for the entire Summer of 14 days. The most pronounced heat wave occurred between July 12 and 23, which included only two days of under 90 degree temperatures.

ALTHOUGH the rainfall was double the normal amount, it was only the third highest for the month. The total precipitation was 8.38 inches, compared to a normal of 4.26 for July.

The record for July is 12.41 inches in 1916, and the second highest is 11.66 in 1925.

A large percentage of past month's rain fell within 24 hours, from 9 a. m. on July 8 to 7 a. m. on July 9, when 3.82 inches was recorded. During the heavy thundershower on July 21, 1.61 inches fell.

There were 10 thunderstorms the past month, compared to an average of seven.

Search for Elusive Heifer Postponed Until Next Week

The campaign to corral the elusive black Angus heifer in the Zieglerville district has been delayed until next week.

George T. Caldwell, Quarryville RD 3, Lancaster county cattle dealer who delivered the wild animal to a Zieglerville property this past July 7, reported last night, "I'll be over there with cow dogs and a big posse next Wednesday, but if it rains maybe I'll be over tomorrow."

A posse of 20 straw-hatted hunters, five of whom were armed with high-powered rifles, stalked the strange heifer through the hills around Zieglerville and Delphi Wednesday.

A group of the hunters remained Wednesday night and searched for the Angus by the light of stars and flashlights.

At 12:30 A. M. yesterday they got a glimpse of the scary black heifer at close range, but before anyone could raise a weapon it faded into the dark green foliage and the black of the night.

The heifer was delivered to the pasture of Howard Sacks Jr., Zieglerville, this past July 7, but from the beginning decided the four-strand, four-foot barbed wire fence around the Sacks' pasture was too confining.

With a snort the wild animal left the pasture seconds after it was freed from the truck. It cleared the high fence and disappeared into the thickets.

Caldwell asserted, "I'll give anybody $25 who can catch the heifer alive. I don't want it dead. If one of the posse shoots it we can follow up with a knife and bleed it so the meat will be good."

On the next search Caldwell will employ the services of two cow dogs. The dogs are owned by a Rewlinsville, Lancaster county farmer, and were purchased from a Kansas ranch for $150 each. Their special mission in life is to roundup wild cattle.

During the sitdown no merchandise was accepted and no merchandise was removed from the coolers.

Car Is Loser—It Hits a Truck

The left front headlight and fender of an automobile driven by Stanley Mikonowicz, Pennsylvania RD 1, were damaged at 3:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Mikonowicz misjudged the distance between his car and a truck on High street near Franklin street and the car struck the rear of the truck.

Mikonowicz told Patrolman Michael Shanta, who investigated, the accident was his fault because of his misjudgement of the distance between the two vehicles.

Gerald Ash, 429 Main street, Birdsboro, was driving the truck, owned by the Varcraft Works incorporated, Keim and Cross streets, west in the first lane of traffic on High street when the accident occurred.

Mikonowicz's auto struck the truck as it pulled out from a parking space at the north curb of High

Sewer Job Had Borough Okay

Borough Manager Dow I. Sears reported yesterday that George F. Shaner, borough engineer, had been to the vicinity of the cave-in at King and Berks streets early yesterday morning and had found the job up to the borough's specifications at that time.

Shaner said he had found everything in order before the ditch had been extended past the spot of the cave-in, he said.

James R. Christ, the contractor laying the sewer pipe, said that he had the job to lay sewers for all of the Pottsgrove Manor area.

Christ has had several years experience in building borough sewers and he says that he has never had a cave-in on any of the jobs he worked on before.

He said that the recent break in a 20-inch main about 10 or 15 feet below the ditch may have caused the ground to buckle.

Hot Working Conditions Causes Telephone Strike

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 31 (AP)—A walkout due to a hot weather complaint grew into a full-fledged telephone strike today, hampering service in four cities and idling an estimated 750 workers.

The stoppage began in Chattanooga Tuesday when 100 Southern Bell operators walked off their jobs, protesting the main exchange was too hot to work in.

The walkout became a three-shift affair when the other workers in the same office refused to man the switchboards Wednesday. Last night the union voted to make it an official strike.

Today picket lines were set up and operators and office workers stayed off their jobs in Cleveland, Athens and Copperhill, as well as Chattanooga.

AEC MAKES DEAL FOR ATOM PLANT

Westinghouse Electric To Attempt to Perfect Power for Naval Vessels

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Atomic Energy commission made a deal today for development of an atomic power plant for "large Naval vessels, such as aircraft carriers."

The AEC said the job of trying to perfect a nuclear power plant for ocean-going giants has been assigned to the Westinghouse Electric corporation—the same firm which is already building an engine earmarked for installation in the Navy's projected atomic submarine, the USS Nautilus.

The contract for a "large vessel" power plant—coupled with the fact that the Navy has gone ahead with building the Nautilus even before its projected engine has been tested—immediately prompted speculation that the commission considers the basic problems solved.

The AEC declined to amplify its terse, two-paragraph announcement except to say, in answer to question, that a "large" Naval vessel would include "anything bigger than a destroyer."

NAVY SECRETARY Kimball has said in recent speeches that he hopes that some of the new super-carriers will use atomic power. He said he hoped that atomic power for Naval propulsion would proceed rapidly enough so that the third or fourth of the ten projected super-carriers might be so powered.

Observers have speculated that 100,000 mile cruises at high speed and without refueling would be duck soup for a battlewagon or a commercial liner powered by atomic uranium, a pound of which could generate as much power as 1500 tons of coal or 200,000 gallons of fuel oil.

How much atomic fuel would be required for a battlewagon's atomic power plant—and how much speed would be attained by such a craft—has never been indicated by the AEC.

But President Truman in his speech at the keel-laying of the submarine Nautilus in June, said the atomic sub would be able to cruise underwater at "more than 20 knots."

Stevenson Confers With Wilson Wyatt; Speculations Raised

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 31 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson conferred at length today with Wilson Wyatt, raising speculation that the former Federal housing expediter may play an important role in the new Democratic national campaign.

Some political sources have reported that Stevenson has considered Wyatt as a possible successor to Frank McKinney, Democratic national chairman, but there has been no confirmation from the governor's office.

Wyatt arrived at Stevenson headquarters in the Illinois executive mansion at about 2:30 p. m. (Pottstown time) and the two lunched together. Then they went into the Democratic presidential nominee's office for discussions that were interrupted after an hour and a quarter but resumed shortly before 6 p. m.

THE ONE TIME mayor of Louisville, Ky., was to dine with Stevenson, talk more afterward, and stay overnight.

William J. Flanagan, the governor's press secretary, said he didn't know what the two discussed.

He said newsmen would be briefed at the conclusion, or would be given an opportunity to interview Wyatt.

There were indications the talks had been going on longer than expected, at least by Flanagan, who gave word at dinner time that the mystery of the meetings would be cleared up at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The Stevenson-Wyatt friendship goes back to their Washington days. Wyatt was national housing expediter in 1946-47 and was in the Capitol in 1945 in connection with duties as special representative of the Board of Economic Warfare in North Africa.

Mimosa Tree a Rarity

Showing off the powder-puff pink blooms of his rare mimosa tree is Jacob E. Wolf, of Pottstown RD 2, who claims the distinction of being the sole owner in this area of this species of oriental tree. Wolf says many motorists stop in front of his residence along Route 100 to admire the delicate flowers which bloom from early July to late August. The mimosa sheds its faded flowers every night only to recover with a treeful of fresh blooms every morning. Seedlings from Wolf's tree, which he planted 11 years ago, have grown into young mimosas which he has sold to plant fanciers.

Reds Driven From Old Baldy

SEOUL, Korea, Friday, Aug. 1 (AP)—Allied troops in a bloody battle early today drove Chinese Communists off the crest of Old Baldy, the western Korean front.

UN troops recaptured the muddy crest of the strategic western front hill just ten days after a Chinese battalion drove them off.

An Army spokesman said about 200 Communists were knocked off the crest in seven hours of fighting, which at times was hand to hand.

The Allied infantrymen jumped off shortly before midnight and by 6 o'clock Friday morning the crest was in Allied hands, the Army said.

ONE OFFICER told AP Correspondent Milo Farneti at the front that "the critical time is now—the digging in part."

Farneti said the victorious Allied troops were hastily building log and sand bag bunkers in anticipation of heavy Communist mortar and artillery barrages.

The attack to recapture Old Baldy was launched as Korean skies cleared following heavy rains which have washed out virtually all fighting since Saturday.

Both sides have their big guns "zeroed in" on Old Baldy, making it a costly hill to hold.

The Chinese have fired some of their heaviest artillery and mortar barrages of the war in two weeks of see-saw fighting. The hill crest has changed hands several times.

FARNETI SAID there was no immediate estimate of Chinese casualties in Friday's battle. The Eighth Army estimated 1300 Communists were killed or wounded in earlier fighting on Old Baldy.

Soon after Allied troops recaptured the crest Red runners sent their first shells hurtling onto the hill.

Allied bombers flew back and forth over the Communist lines, hunting out Chinese field guns.

Six days of drenching rain have hit the Communists harder than UN forces, an officer told Farneti.

"They don't have one big bridge left that leads to Old Baldy," he said. "Our artillery knocked out the last big one yesterday."

The Yokkok river on the Communist side of Old Baldy and nearby I-Bone hill is running so high the Chinese cannot move troops and supplies across the river, the officer said.

The ground was marked by scattered, small-scale clashes, but Allied fighter-bombers struck ground targets behind the Red lines for the first time in six days. B-26 light bombers attacked Communist positions on Old Baldy hill on the western front.

Rainfall on that night was measured at 12 inches in six days.

Price Increase Is Due In Aluminum Industry

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Officials said today the aluminum industry will be given a price increase averaging about 5.5 percent, or approximately half the amount requested by producers.

One price official told a reporter an order will be issued Monday granting a ceiling hike of one percent per pound on raw aluminum—pig and ingot—and five percent on semi-fabricated and fully fabricated products.

Officials said the increase undoubtedly will mean higher prices to consumers for goods made of aluminum or containing aluminum.

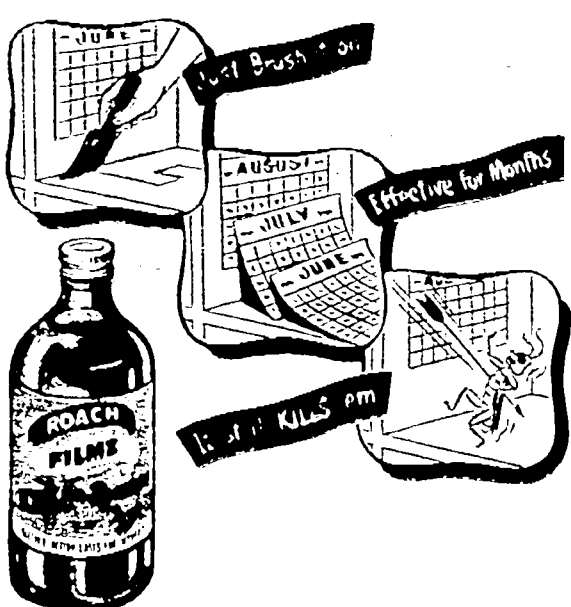

Almost 86 percent of Alabama's 1949 output of 35 million tons of bituminous coal came from underground mines.

Where Roach Filmz Is-Ants and Roaches Ain't

Roach Filmz is a new scientific development containing Chlordane for the control of household insect pests.

It is applied with a brush to places where ants, roaches, water bugs, silver fish, etc., are likely to crawl. One application leaves an invisible film that is effective for months.

When an insect crawls over the surface where invisible Roach Filmz has been applied, their legs become paralyzed and they die within about 3 hours.

It is the perfect control and does away with messy powders and sprays. The price is low, only 80¢ for 1/2-pint, $1.19 per pint and $1.95 per quart.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By MARTIN SALTICH

JOHN J. BASCO, 28 BERKS STREET, STOWE, is an area resident who sees more of Pottstown from the sky than he does from the ground.

The 34-year-old manager of the Pottstown Municipal Airport thinks the loveliest sight in the world is a birdseye view of the countryside. "You don't miss a thing from a plane," he says.

John J. Basco

The curly-haired, mustached pilot heads for the clouds several hours a day in a Cessna or Aronca to give flying instructions to beginners, whenever he isn't busy directing traffic at the twin-runway, 81-acre field.

A native of Stowe, Johnny was born on April 15, 1918, and graduated from West Pottsgrove High School in 1936. He worked as a machine helper at a hosiery mill for the next two years while taking night courses in drafting at Pottstown High School.

Johnny joined the Stanley G. Flagg and company, incorporated, in 1938, and remained there until his enlistment in the Army Air Force in April, 1941. He spent the next 18 months as a ground crew mechanic at several U. S. bases, and was shipped to England in Fall, 1942. A year later he returned to America to begin 14 months of cadet training on the West coast, and was commissioned a flight lieutenant in September, 1944.

After receiving his wings, Johnny headed back to Stowe to marry his long-time sweetheart, the former Elizabeth Varady. The couple now have four children: John, 6; Robert, 5; Sharon, 2; and Richard, nine months.

Johnny returned to England in February, 1945, and before the European war ended he flew 17 missions in a B-27, and received the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters and three battle stars. His bomber was hit by flak on all but two of the missions, but Johnny and his crew came through without injury.

In June, 1945, he was reassigned to the Troop Carrier command at Fort Wayne, Ind., from where he ferried troops and supplies in C-47's until released from active duty in October, 1945.

Although he took a job as a draftsman at the Bethlehem Steel company, Johnny wanted to return to flying. His brother-in-law, Charles Novak, pointed out a tree lined, heavily-wooded field at the northwest corner of the borough which could be turned into an airport. The two men bought the field in February, 1946, from the Davidheiser estate, and began to develop it.

For the next two years, Johnny never got more than two or three hours sleep daily. When he wasn't working at Bethlehem steel, he and his brother, Joseph, were busy chopping down trees, tearing out roots, laying out runways and building hangars. Johnny decided to burn the weeds, but he had to call out the fire company when a blaze he started in one patch got out of control.

The airport opened in Feb., 1947, but more work remained to be done, and Johnny didn't start his GI flying school for another year. The borough purchased the airport on March 8, 1948, but Johnny continued as manager and head of the flying school.

A member of the 148th Fighter Interceptor squadron, Pennsylvania Air National Guard, Johnny was recalled to active duty in Feb., 1951, and flew air defense patrols out of Dover, Del., until his discharge the past May.

Back flying Stinsons, Aroncas and Cessnas again, Johnny says, "It's just another job. All the thrills I have had were flying Air Force planes."

To soothe nervous beginners, Johnny points out that he has never had an accident in more than 5000 flying hours as a civilian and military pilot.

"Flying is much safer than driving," he declares. "You never have to worry about traffic."

CHRISTIAN W. BAUM, 228 NORTH EVANS STREET, is among the few amateur bowlers in the area who has rolled a perfect 300 score. "All it takes is practice," says Chris, who has a drawerful of gold watches, rings, belt buckles and other trophies in recognition of his sure aim on the bowling alleys. He never stops trying to improve his throw, though he's been at it since his teens.

Christian W. Baum

He was born on Jan. 17, 1919. His family moved to Boyertown when he was 3 years old. After graduating from Boyertown High School in 1938, Chris worked at a hosiery mill during the day and as a pin boy at the American Legion bowling alley at night. He got plenty of practice there as a member of the Boyertown Oil company team.

On Feb. 25, 1939, Chris rolled a perfect 300 score at the alley, making 28 strikes, 5 spares and one split in three games. A month later he rolled the highest triple in this area — 834 — a record which still stands.

In Sept., 1939, Chris became assistant manager of the Arrow Bowling Alleys in Pottstown, where he taught the game to his future wife, Elizabeth Pollock, whom he married in August, 1941.

From Feb. 1940 to May 1941, he worked at a hosiery mill in Newark, Del., but quit because he had to ride 50 miles to see Elizabeth.

He joined the Doehler-Jarvis corporation and remained there until March, 1942, when he was drafted into the Army Air Force. While stationed at Hickman Field, Hawaii, as a supply technician during the next 2½ years, Chris continued perfecting his game by competing on service teams, but there wasn't much opportunity for bowling after his unit moved to such South Pacific sites as Tarawa, Kwajalein, Saipan, Okinawa and Manila.

Chris was discharged on the same day his daughter, Kathleen, was born — Oct. 23, 1945, and went back to his old job at Doehler's.

The ten pin artist has remained active in local bowling circles ever since. During the Fall and Winter season, he is active three nights a week as a member of the Hook and Ladder team, the Levensgood Dairies team, and the Pennsylvania Beer squad. He holds an individual three game record of 738 in the Pottstown City Bowling League, and the past November was made a member of the 11-in-a-row club of the American Bowling Congress.

Chris says his technique is never to look at the pins he's aiming for. "I aim for a mark on the alley," he explains. "The eye can be wrong, but a board on the alley never moves."

Chris' other interests including soft-ball (he pitches for the Doehler team), fishing ("I like to catch anything that's biting") and any sports events on television, when he isn't reading historical novels.

He is a member of the Owls, the Empire Hook and Ladder company, Holy Trinity Catholic club, and the Doehler Die-Casters club.

Chris once had a chance to become a professional bowler, but turned it down. "In the professional leagues," he explains, "you got to produce continually. If you hit a slump, you're out of work."

And Chris is a man who likes a steady job.

New Benefits Will Up Social Security Tax

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Oscar R. Ewing, Federal Security Administrator, said today that turning old-age and survivors benefits into an annuity or pension at age 65, would require an increase in social security tax rates.

Such a change was proposed in effect in the Democratic party platform and Ewing told reporters he did not oppose it.

But he said it would result in an immediate increase in benefit costs of one billion dollars or 50 percent, and it would be up to Congress to make the decision with a tax increase necessary to keep the system actuarially sound.

The Democratic platform calls for removal of the limitation on the amount of covered earnings a person may receive under the insurance program and still get benefits.

Whoop and Holler 'Phone Systems Are on Way Out

By GROVER BRINKMAN (Central Press Correspondent)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 31.—The out-model "whoop-and-holler" telephone systems, long a plague to Midwest farmers, seem to be on the road to oblivion.

At least many of the present obsolete rural systems will be relegated to the junk heap soon if present plans of newly-organized telephone co-operatives are put into effect.

Today, the rural Midwest has fewer telephones than it did in 1920, although "phones" have increased by leaps and bounds in other parts of the country.

As one farmer told this writer, "We've modernized everything on our farm but the telephone."

Better medical service and veterinary service, as well as social life, are held back on Midwest farms by lack of adequate "phone" service.

NOW, however, since authorization of REA loans for new telephone construction, many Midwest communities already are making applications for these loans.

REA officials maintain that most of the small local independent and farmer-owned telephone companies have failed because of lack of adequate financing. Lines and equipment have deteriorated until service is so poor many communities have had all phones removed.

One of the first of these new co-ops to apply for REA loans is the Egyptian Telephone Co-operative Association, with headquarters at Steeleville, in southwestern Illinois. Farmers flock to these co-op meetings to learn how they can get new, modern telephone systems to replace their equipment, some of which dates back to 1900.

The plan in a nutshell is this: Farmers join the co-op for a small fee, and buy an equity in the same, not to exceed $30. The co-op will build new lines, giving all signers

Made in 1907, still in use.

State Will Draw Up Atomic Safety Code

HARRISBURG, July 31 (P)—The commonwealth is drawing up a new safety code to protect Pennsylvanians working with radioactive materials, David M. Walker, Secretary of Labor and Industry, said today.

He said technical investigation is being conducted by atomic energy scientists at Temple University who will draft the code. Parts of similar codes already adopted by medical associations and technical groups will be incorporated in the new set of standards.

After a code has been adopted members of the Temple atomic energy staff will accompany state inspectors on periodic inspections of industrial plants handling radioactive material, Walker said.

AFL No Picket Rule Cuts Building Strikes

WASHINGTON, July 31 (P)—President Richard J. Gray of the AFL's Building and Construction Trades department said today a new policy adopted by 19 presidents of AFL building trades unions has practically eliminated jurisdictional strikes.

Gray said in an interview the new policy is "working very successfully" and has reduced to one 24-hour strike the number of work stoppages due to jurisdictional disputes in the past month.

The new policy, signed July 7 by the 19 AFL union presidents for their 12,500 local unions, served notice on the local unions their charters would be revoked if they placed a picket on any job because of a jurisdictional dispute.

Gray said the single jurisdictional dispute since the July 7 policy was adopted occurred over a dispute between laborers and plumbers working on a state hospital job in Pennsylvania. He said the strike ended in less than 24 hours. He contrasted that performance to what he said was a normal past record of two or three jurisdictional strikes a week.

One Killed, Three Hurt In Wreck of Truck, Car

POTTSTOWN, July 31 (P)—Sylvester Lishman, 20, St. Clair, a sailor on leave, was killed and three others injured today when Lishman's car and a 15-ton loaded coal truck collided on Route 122 between Schuylkill Haven and Pottsville.

The Schuylkill Haven police said Lishman, who returned to the United States July 25 after a cruise to the Mediterranean on the USS Mercury, lost control of his car when he hit a divider strip and careened into the truck.

Injured in the crash were Vincent Sleva, 23, Joseph Petrosino, 21, St. Clair, and a man named Udul, also of St. Clair. The latter was detained at Pottsville hospital.

TRUMAN ENTHUSIASTIC KANSAS CITY, July 31 (P)—President Truman voiced enthusiasm today over the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket, but what part he will play in the coming campaign remained unclear.

Waterways Board Opens River Gales

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 31 (P)—Fifteen of the 16 gates in the compensating dam across St. Mary's river at the Sault canal here were ordered opened today by the International Joint Commission on Waterways.

All but two of the gates were closed shortly after the start of the United States steel strike. The dam holds back the flow from Lake Superior.

Trouble is expected at the international ferry docks here. Ferries already are experiencing difficulty because of high water. Ferry company officials said it would raise the river level by 18 inches.

TAX WRITER GIVES VIEW

WASHINGTON, July 31 (P)—Rep. Daniel Reed of New York, a top Republican tax writer in the House, said today that taxes can be reduced safely if there is no all-out war.

Doll Tourney Winds Up With Picnic Today

A picnic will be held today at Manatoway park playground and will be followed by a wind-up of tournaments of the nine Pottstown playgrounds and the annual borough-wide doll show.

Winners of the individual contests at all the borough playgrounds will compete in the grand annual doll show today.

The rain date of the doll show will be Tuesday.

Yesterday the children took advantage of the clear weather to play outdoor games.

At Manatoway park playground a favorite pastime was playing tetherball. A ball on a long thin line is attached to the top of a 15-foot pole.

ONE PLAYER hits the ball as hard as he can, trying to wind the ball around the pole. Another player hits the ball in the other direction, unwinding the line and trying to wind it in the opposite direction.

The player who winds the entire length of rope around the pole first is the winner.

Energetically jumping around the pole and baiting the ball were John Johnson, David Quigley, James Undercoffler, Lee Colleen, Leroy Heisler, Galen Fritz, Diane Varady and Nancy Lessig.

The children at the playground also had a good time petting and playing with "Peanut," a brown and black rabbit bound owned by Ronald and Harry Peck.

The Tot Lot boys and girls were treated to candy and peanuts yesterday while they made doll posters out of blue and pink crepe paper.

Munching on the candy and peanuts donated by a "friend of the playground" were Kay Emery, Judy Grebe, Barbara Oxenford, Harry Nester and Carol and Barbara Cook.

This Man Was More Fortunate

In a part of rescue operations which was successful (left) at the cave-in at Berks and King streets yesterday, Kenneth Hines, 416 Lincoln avenue, digs Andrew Lorick, 32, of 548 South Seventh street, Reading, out of the hole. Arrow points to the head of Lloyd A. Koch, 35, of 50 Fairview street, Stowe, who died in the accident. The photo at the right shows Lorick as he first stepped out of the ditch assisted by Harvey L. Hines, 411 Lincoln avenue.

Cave-in Kills Worker

to Koch whose head had been uncovered by fellow workmen.

Employees of James R. Christ, 209 West Sixth street, Royertown, the contractor working on the job of laying a 10-inch sewer main where the accident happened, jumped into the ditch after the cave-in and dug the dirt away from Koch's head.

Koch could move his head and cry for help for a few minutes after he was buried and then he became unconscious.

Robert D. Whisler, Road B, Hilldale, and Nicholas Vaculik, 550 South street, were passing by the scene of the accident. They stopped and jumped into the ditch and started using picks and shovels to aid the other workers in extricating the buried men.

LORICK'S LEGS were pinned tight into the soil and the rescue workers dug feverishly to free him in order to be in position to get Koch out.

The half-buried Lorick smoked a cigarette, with hands shaking as he glanced occasionally at the top of the head of his co-worker, Kenneth Hines, 416 Lincoln avenue, had been near the cave-in with his father, Harvey L. Hines, 411 Lincoln avenue, and he jumped into the ditch and labored until both men were free.

While the younger Hines dug, this father, who is superintendent of the borough's water department, stood on the brink of the ditch wall and directed rescue operations.

Within a few minutes the area was crowded with people, hampering the rescue work, and Motor Patrolman Earl Rhoads and Patrolman Michael Shanta yelled at the onlookers to keep away from the ditch.

At 12:10 p. m., Lorick was freed but his right leg was too stiff for him to move it.

HE WAS aided to the top of a pipe running across the ditch and from there he was lifted to level ground.

Lorick sat and rested at the back of the ambulance while the rescue attempt to uncover Koch went on.

"I hardly know what happened," Lorick mumbled. "Me and Cooke were bending down and I heard somebody yell when all of a sudden the dirt started to pile up on top of me."

"I don't think I have any feeling in my foot," he said pointing to a swollen right foot.

Rhoads took Lorick to Pottstown hospital where it was reported that only bruises were present on the injured foot. The hospital also said that Lorick was suffering from shock.

The injured man was released from the hospital but he will return there today for X-rays of his foot. Late yesterday afternoon, he was treated in Community General hospital, Reading, for broken ribs.

WHILE THE men in the ditch shoveled dirt away from Koch's body, his father, Lloyd C. Koch, who happened to be in the vicinity when the cave-in happened stood at the brink wanting to go down, but friends held him back.

He kept saying as though nobody believed him, "He's my son. He's my son."

A few minutes after Lorick was freed, the men digging with picks and spades were able to get ropes around the body of Koch. While several of them stood out of the ditch and pulled, Whisler and Hines raised Koch's body up to the surface.

At 12:35 p. m. he was pronounced dead by Dr. D. E. Alexander. Pottstown physician, and his body was covered with a gray blanket from the ambulance.

Rhoads called Montgomery County Coroner W. J. Rushong in Norristown and obtained permission to remove Koch's body.

Coroner Rushong later examined the body and said death was caused by a fractured skull and a crushed chest.

Christ, the contractor in charge of laying the sewer pipe, said, "We were digging a 10-foot trench, working on a job for F. A. Collins (The Collins firm is a Philadelphia company working on the housing project at Pottsgrove Manor)."

"The walls were solid but the main break about 10 or 15 feet south of, where we were digging may have caused the wall to cave-in," he said.

A 20-inch water main was broken about two weeks ago just below where the men were putting in the sewer pipe. The water superintendent and his son were on the scene of the accident because they had to see that Christ's workers did not run any heavy machinery over the soft spot where repairs were made.

"My men are covered fully by insurance," Christ went on. "Their claims will depend on the size of their families."

Koch was employed by Christ as a pipe layer and had been working for him for the past two and a half months. Christ went into business for himself at that time after working several years for D. Richard Jafolla, Pottstown contractor who does most of the borough's work in laying sewers.

Koch was born in Sinking Springs the son of Lloyd C. and

Sudden Bering Sea Gale Capsizes Boat; 6 Perish

NOME, Alaska, July 31 (AP)—Six members of the crew of a military tanker were lost today when their small ship-to-shore boat capsized in a sudden gale.

Six survivors were hospitalized. One man was washed ashore and staggered to the police station to give the alarm.

Nome has no harbor and sudden Bering sea storms lash the coast and endanger ships or boats anchored off shore.

A similar accident took lives the past year and civic authorities urgently requested that a Coast Guard station be set up in this area.

street. The truck was undamaged.

TWO AUTOS were damaged, but no one injured, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Beech and Hanover streets when the brakes of one failed and it rammed the rear of the other as it waited for a traffic light to change.

M. R. Davis, of Star City, W. Va., was the driver of the rammed vehicle, which was facing east on Beech street. Lester Buchter, 244 North Charlotte street, was driving the second car.

Buchter told Motor Patrolman Robert Scheidt, who investigated, he applied his brakes, but the car failed to stop.

The right rear fender and bumper of Davis' auto and the front bumper, hood, right fender and wheel of Buchter's vehicle were damaged.

Bleeding Man Totters On Ledge of House

PHILADELPHIA, July 31 (AP)—Bleeding from his razor-slashed arms and throat, Joseph Brentari, 52, tattered on the ledge of a three-story house today for an hour and a half before police, firemen and relatives talked him into coming down safely.

Hundreds of neighbors watched as the man threatened to jump to the street.

A former inmate at the Pennsylvania State school, Brentari was a patient at Bella Vista sanatorium in Montgomery County, Pa., for several weeks until the past Sunday, police said. At that time his sister, Mrs. Emilie Mancini, brought him to her home on Morton street, in Philadelphia.

The Mancinis were at work in Philadelphia, Diener said. "They all when their daughters, Phyllis and Polly, entered a second floor air conditioning ducts which allow bathroom and found it spattered with blood. They searched the house for their uncle and discovered him standing on the very edge of the roof swaying back and forth.

Mancini returned home and with the help of a Catholic priest from St. Vincent's seminary, and police, finally persuaded Brentari to leave the ledge.

PLEA IS REFUSED WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The National Production Authority today refused the plea of General Motors' Electromotive division for a bigger share of the materials allocated for diesel-electric locomotives.

dead on the highway. You could see they had been dead for a few days the way their carcasses were bloated. They had died from hunger and thirst."

The relentless hot spell has also done much to force prices up on the most staple of the South's produce. Diener commented that it was with great surprise that he saw watermelon being sold for from 25 to 40 cents a slice and orange juice in Florida going at 20 cents a glass.

"PEACHES ARE practically non-existent from Virginia on down and tomatoes are as rare as gold nuggets," he said.

The abnormal crop conditions, he said, were due to small showers in place of the high rainfall that normally saturates the South in July.

The thing that impressed Diener most was the way people down there in the "you-all" country have adjusted themselves to the oppressive weather.

"You'd see kids walking barefooted on concrete sidewalks that you could fry an egg on," he said, then added, "and the Southerners all laugh at the way we Yankees seemed to suffer from the heat."

The business end of his journey had entailed the buying of a home for his traveling companion, Vernon Kemp, who expects to settle in Orlando.

OF THE new home being built in Florida, Diener said, "They all have exhaust fans in them or else they have air conditioning ducts which allow easy installation of cooling units."

Although away for nine days, Diener covered the 2300-mile round trip in five days of traveling time—three going down and two coming up.

"The signs down in Florida all say 'Hurricane Back,' but I couldn't get away fast enough. I drove 400 miles the first day and 750 miles the second day," he told.

As warm as it is south of the Mason-Dixon line, the popular impression would be that vacationers would seek cooler northern climates, but Diener corrected this misconception when he told of the crowded motels along the road with most people traveling towards Florida.

At first, not understanding this situation, he had inquired of tourist cabin proprietors who told him that "many were taking advantage of the Steel strike layoffs to utilize their idle time in taking a trip to Florida."

Although Diener has travelled West and North in his lifetime, this was his first journey South, and he thinks "it will be quite a while before I go back — unless it's in the winter."

HEIFER HUNT —

nesday and Thursday morning posse. Caldwell explained, "I'll have a lot more when I come over the next time. We'll need a large group to surround the heifer."

The Angus first was spotted this past Monday in the H. O. Adamson corn field, Lower Frederick township. Since then the animal has been seen several times.

The posse spotted the heifer in Goshenhoppen run on Wednesday, but could not get a shot at it.

The Angus was purchased by Sacks for his son Raymond for an agricultural project in Schwenksville High school, where he will enter the Ninth grade this Fall.

He told Caldwell to take the animal back because it was too wild.

COX TAKES OVER AS WSB CHIEF

Harvard Professor Says He's Determined to Make Program Work

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A Harvard law professor took charge of the Administration Wage Stabilization program today, determined to make it work despite the fact that Congress has stripped his agency of all power to settle labor disputes. The new chairman of the reorganized Wage Stabilization board is Archibald Cox, a tall 40-year-old lawyer with a crew haircut. With 13 other members of the new board, Cox takes over the wage stabilization headache at a time when the cost of living has reached a new peak and several key industries are mulling over possible demands for wage boosts.

Besides passing on wage increases agreed to between labor and management, the new board has the job of administering a score of broad wage regulations inherited from the old board.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN yesterday appointed 14 members to the new 18-man board. When its full complement has been named, the board will have six public six industry and six labor members. All are subject to Senate confirmation.

Congress the past month ordered the old board abolished and set up the new panel with very limited powers, telling it to study wage.

The first new regulation scheduled for board consideration is a policy to allow general wage increases to compensate for increased productivity. This policy, however, has run into strong industry opposition.

When asked how soon the board might complete work on this anticipated regulation, Cox told a news conference: "I assume it's going to come up and that it must be faced by the full board." He said a lot of work on the policy has already been done by the department and that details have "largely worked themselves out." But he refused to predict its final form.

With the steel wage fight now out of the way, bargaining is under way or soon will be in several major industries and the board is going to have to decide what new increases it can allow. These industries include rubber, copper and shipbuilding.

AND JOHN L. Lewis, boss of 400,000 soft coal miners, has served notice his work contract will expire Sept. 20. Lewis is expected to demand a wage boost of at least the 21 cent hourly increase won by Philip Murray's CIO Steelworkers.

Under present stabilization rules, however, he has very little official leeway for any wage boost he may negotiate with the coal operators.

The Cox board will have the official duty, if requested by an other Government agency or by the two parties, of deciding how much or how little Lewis is allowed. And any soft coal contract would be subject to board approval.

Bottled Note in Sea Will Lead to Meeting

LISTOWEL County, Kerry, Ireland, July 31.—It was Christmas Day 1945 and to GI Frank Havostak, home pound from the war, a fit occasion to do something different.

He wrote his name and address on a "crap" of paper, sealed it in an empty bottle and tossed it into the Atlantic from his troopship, the James Ford Rhodes.

Eight months later back home in Johnstown, ex-GI Havostak got a letter from Ireland. It was from an Irish colleen named Brenda O'Sullivan and she had found Havostak's bottle on a lonely coast of southwest Ireland near her Kerry county home.

Shocks Still Rock Quaking California

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., July 31.—Enduring two more damaging jolts today, residents of this quake-stricken region were heartened by the possibility of state financial aid to repair the damage.

A shock shortly after 5 a. m. splintered plate glass windows of two stores at nearby Arvin and sent jittery residents running into the streets. It was felt in San Francisco nearly 300 miles northwest and in Los Angeles 120 miles south.

A second heavy tremor at 12:52 p. m. further damaged the 20 million dollar Kern General hospital here and loosened a nine-foot parapet on the Kern county jail.

Both structures are still in use. However, 20 more patients were evacuated from the hospital. A total of 220 have been removed from its unsafe brick buildings. Hospital Administrator John Doubermier said his institution has suffered five million dollars worth of damage.

Swimming was seldom at camp in the Middle Ages because of a belief that pebbles spread through water.

the ex-GI and the colleen wrote to each other. As their friendship grew, Havostak started saving money for a trip to Ireland.

Next Monday, he is due to leave New York by plane for Ireland to meet — for the first time — the Irish colleen who picked up his bottle.

STEEL EARNINGS GIVEN

NEW YORK, July 31.—Both Bethlehem Steel corporation, second largest producer in the industry, reported today it earned $378,683 equal to 39 cents a common share in the strike-marred second quarter. This compared with $18,976,075 or $1.80 a share in the preceding three months and with $23,628,770 or $2.29 on the second quarter the past year.

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR of The Mercury Staff

The Simpletons had spent half of their Summer-long vacation getting to the West Coast and now they were ready to utilize the remainder of their time in slowly working their way home.

But before leaving the Golden State, the family decided to end their California stay with a visit to San Francisco, which is considered by many the most charming city in the West.

"Frisco turned out to be one of the most interesting pilgrimages of the Simpletons inasmuch as there were so many places to visit, good restaurants in which to eat, rides on the cable cars, plus tours of Nob Hill and the old Barbary Coast.

But all this fun almost cost Simon his shirt—or shirts to be exact.

IT'S COMMON knowledge that the Golden Gate city is a haven for Chinese laundrymen. So when Simon ran out of clean shirts it was the normal thing for him to take his laundry to Foo Lyu's 24-hour service establishment.

"Amazing how well these Chinese can speak English," Simon remarked to Sophie when he got back. Twenty-four hours later Simon was facing Foo Lyu with an excuse that he had lost his laundry ticket but wanted his shirts.

To this the poker-faced oriental replied, "So sorry, me no speaks English—only can say no ticket no washee."

Just then Sophie rushed in with the lost coupon which magically produced the desired bundle and Foo Lyu's gentle words: "Thank you, please stop in again."

Movies and Slides Viewed by Optimists For Synthetic Oil

Movies and slides highlighted the weekly dinner meeting held by the Pottstown Optimists club at Clover Leaf restaurant last night.

Technicolor films of the Pottstown Antique Automobile parade and the Fourth of July Firemen's parade were shown by Harry Werner, while Elwood Angstadt covered the same subjects with colored slides.

Next week's program calls for a softball game to be played by Senior Optimists against the Junior Optimist team at Kenilworth playground. Following the game, the group will indulge in an outdoor supper.

Development Urged For Synthetic Oil

WASHINGTON, July 31 (UP)—Secretary of the Interior Chapman today visualized a vast synthetic oil industry which he said would return a handsome profit and boost the nation's oil reserves by "many billions of barrels."

In a report to Congress, Chapman urged that private industry go ahead as soon as possible to develop commercial plants for transforming oil shale and coal into gasoline and other synthetic fuels.

Chapman complained that even with offers of Government aid, there have been no takers.

His report estimated it would cost $272,150,000 to $1,184,000,000 to develop a 250,000-barrel-a-day oil shale industry using the gas-combustion process developed by the Bureau of Mines. It would include facilities in Colorado and California.

'Two Gun' Kamlon Gives Up Sword

JOLO ISLAND, Southern Philippines, Friday, Aug. 1 (UP)—One of the Philippines' most notorious brigands, poker-faced Datu Kamlon, surrendered unconditionally today, ending seven years of defiance to the national government.

Dressed in multi-colored turban, light yellow silk shirt and khaki jodhpurs—the finery of a Moro chieftain—Kamlon handed over a two foot long Barong (saber) and pistols which had been strapped on each hip. The guns were handed personally to Defense Secretary Ramon Magsaysay.

The surrender of Kamlon and his 300 followers signaled the start of big military and naval operations to clean out an estimated 5,000 bandits, pirates and smugglers infesting Jolo and neighboring islands of the Sulu archipelago. Magsaysay gave the remaining outlaws until midnight Thursday to lay down their arms.

Late French Liner Has Tough Sailing

NEW YORK, July 31 (UP)—The new French liner Flandre, nearly 24 hours late in arriving here on her maiden voyage yesterday, will be late in sailing, too. The French line said today the ship's departure time had been postponed from tomorrow to Sunday noon so that mechanical repairs can be made. The 341-foot vessel—largest built in France since the end of World War II—left Le Havre July 23. Two days later its fuel line clogged. Then, when it anchored off Staten Island yesterday, a short circuit knocked out electric power and four tugs had to tow the ship to its pier.

Drought Causes Huge Crop Loss

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Government took emergency action today to relieve the effects of a drought which has burned up crops worth millions of dollars in at least a dozen States.

Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky and Mississippi were declared "disaster loan areas" by the Agriculture department as a result of the prolonged heat and lack of rain.

Tennessee and large parts of Missouri and Arkansas already have been designated as disaster areas.

Government farm experts also were studying conditions in New England and in North and South Carolina, Louisiana, Virginia and Florida to determine whether Federal help is needed.

GOV. PAUL A. Dever closed the tinder-dry woods in eight eastern Massachusetts counties today as it appeared no appreciable rain was in sight. Rhode Island forests were closed by similar action yesterday.

Farmers in States designated as disaster areas will be able to borrow money from the Farmers Home administration to buy such things as hay and livestock feed as they are unable to obtain credit from local private or cooperative sources.

They may also obtain loans to finance production of their 1953 crops.

Stevenson Is Called Captive of Truman, Cio, City Machines

COLUMBUS, O., July 31 (AP)—The Republican vice presidential nominee tonight said the Democrats offer the nation a candidate who is captive to the CIO, the big city machines and President Truman.

Despite his good intentions and I do not question his good intentions, Gov. Adlai Stevenson is a captive candidate," said Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

Nixon made the statement in a news conference that preceded his first campaign speech before the Ohio Republican convention.

"He is Jack Kroll's candidate," said Nixon, "he is Jake Arves's candidate and the candidate of all the other big city machines. He is Harry Truman's candidate."

Jack Kroll is chief of the CIO Political Action Committee. Jacob Arves is Illinois national committeeman and boss of Chicago Democrats.

THE CALIFORNIA Senator hand-picked as his running mate by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, pledged a fighting campaign.

We will wage a fighting campaign from now until November," he said. "I knew that Gen. Eisenhower was going to put on a fighting campaign, but after conversations with him at Denver and after some of the talk at the Democratic convention I know that he is more determined than ever to fight."

Young College Grad Is Millionth Draftee

DETROIT, July 31 (AP)—A young man just out of college became the army's 1,000,000th draftee of the Korean War today.

Draft board Arthur Weinfeld, 23, former newsboy and son of an auto plant tool inspector, got the distinction.

The Army made him "No. 1,000,000" ceremoniously.

With 125 other rookies and Col. C. Menden Williams looking on, Weinfeld was inducted at the Fort Wayne induction center.

He accepted the honor composed and smiling.

I am happy to be chosen but I hope to be accepted as just one of the boys," Weinfeld said.

Exiled Farouk and Son In Italian Sanctuary

Former King Farouk of Egypt sits in the front seat of a limousine shortly after his arrival on the Isle of Capri, Italy. In the back seat of the car, a nurse holds the infant Crown Prince, Ahmed, who automatically became king upon his father's abdication. It is reported that the stay on Capri will be brief and that the ex-monarch will probably leave for the United States in a week.

Ex-King Farouk Is Resigned To World of Simple Existence

ISLE OF CAPRI, July 31 (AP)—Ex-King Farouk of Egypt with a royal shrug of well-upholstered shoulders announced his resignation to the life of a poor man ready to eke out a simple existence away from the oriental splendor of the palace he occupied for 36 years.

Royal police Farouk, now merely Prince Farouk Fuad, wistfully told a crowded news conference that he began his life among the ranks of exiled royalty, feeling he is no longer a rich man even though admittedly he is better off than most people.

The 72-year-old deposed monarch turned himself out somberly for the occasion of his first public statement since his abdication was forced on him the past weekend in Alexandria. He appeared on the terrace of his hotel, high on the cliffs above this romantic isle, wearing a conservative dark brown suit, white shirt and sordid necktie.

Even his dark glasses matched his mood as he read a prepared statement in a low voice. On finishing he turned without looking up and walked slowly back to join his girl queen Nafarman, his infant son King Fuad II, and his three daughters.

FAROUK WISHED luck to the Army group in Egypt under Gen. Monammet Naguib who pushed him off his throne. They would need luck, these days, he said with a trace of bitterness.

Where will he go now? He hasn't thought about his future home, one thought anyone who says I am going to the United States, England or Switzerland or southern France govern the country as he sees fit. The only fit almost certain approval on the thing one could be pretty sure of, said Farouk, will make the bill final.

REMINGTON RAND GETS GEN. MAC

MacArthur Is Named Corporation Chairman; Won't Campaign for GOP

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur turned his back on politics and soldiering today to begin a new career as chairman of Remington Rand Incorporated, 227-million-dollar a year industrial corporation.

The former Pacific commander and Republican convention key note said he would take no part in the election campaign of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. He had backed Ohio Senator Robert Taft for the nomination.

Buttonholed by reporters at a luncheon where his election as Remington Rand chairman was announced, MacArthur said firmly: "I will take no part in the campaign. I am embarking upon a new career in industry. I will not be a part of the political picture."

MacArthur's acceptance of the chairmanship was announced by James H. Rand, company president, who said the post had been offered him once three years ago and again shortly after he was relieved of his Pacific command in April the past year. Now for the first time, Rand said, MacArthur felt free to accept it.

MacArthur, who wore a light green double-breasted flannel suit into the gathering, said: "It is peculiarly agreeable that on this late day of my life I can pass from a profession of destruction to another of construction—no build rather than destroy."

Company officials declined to say what salary MacArthur would get. Informed sources had previously reported he had been offered $100,000 a year.

Truce Still Blocked

MUNSAN, Korea, Friday, Aug. 1 (AP)—Allied and Communist staff officers after haggling five days over the wording of a Korean armistice appeared no closer today to any discussion of the basic problems blocking a truce.

Company officials declined to say what salary MacArthur would get. Informed sources had previously reported he had been offered $100,000 a year.

More Uranium Tapped by AEC

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Atomic Energy commission disclosed today that it is tapping major new resources of uranium.

The announcement apparently means sharp gains for the United States in the atomic race with Russia since the precious fissionable metal is the key to the whole atomic powered aircraft enterprise.

The commission told Congress that (a) an agreement has been reached with Australia to supply the vital ore to the United States, (b) by-product uranium from South African gold fields soon will be coming for American use, (c) Canada, long a major uranium supplier for Uncle Sam, has put additional milling facilities into operation at the Eldorado mine on Great Bear Lake, and (d) home production is speeding up.

The 12th semi-annual report from the AEC also reported "significant progress" in developing States in the atomic race with Russia since the precious fissionable metal is the key to the whole atomic powered aircraft enterprise.

The evidence that America's home grounds uranium production and exploration program has picked up steam—with more to come—appeared in this section of the report.

"Domestic production is increasing and new sources, both foreign and domestic, are nearly ready for initial production. Domestic production capacity was increased and additional production areas are being investigated."

Sentry Will Get New Trial

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Court of Military Appeals today ordered a new trial for a 30-year-old New Jersey soldier who was court-martialed and sentenced to 10 years at hard labor for allegedly sleeping on sentry duty at the Korean War front.

The soldier is Pvt. Warren G. McConnell of Alloway, N. J.

After his conviction by a court martial in Korea, Dec. 10, 1951, McConnell wrote a letter to his father saying he had been without sleep for 72 hours and was "numb all over" when he drew sentry duty on a bitterly cold night.

Testimony at the original trial brought out that McConnell was one of three soldiers assigned to protect other members of his company from a surprise attack by the Chinese Communists during the night.

Henry L. Schutz Family To Take European Trip

By MARY JANE FEGELY
(Mercury Society Editor)

A promise of long-standing, which will enable a grandmother to see her granddaughter for the first time, will be kept beginning Aug. 12, when the family of Mr. Henry L. Schutz, Fagleyville, begins a trip to Germany.

The granddaughter, lovely, dark-haired Miss Rosemarie Schutz, who will accompany her parents on the trip, is eager to meet her grandmother.

"I'll be some baby to take back," she laughed. "Mother and Daddy have been promising this trip for years, and I'm really excited about the whole thing."

THE FAMILY will leave Aug. 12 on the Holland-American liner, New Amsterdam, from Hoboken pier, N. J. After docking in Rotterdam, Holland, they will board a train for their native town of Heilbronn and that task in favor of beautifully Bonfield, in Wurttemberg, landscaping the property through the use of practically every variety of pine tree, shrubs, flowers and other large trees.

Mr. Schutz, of Heilbronn, and his wife, the former Miss Hannah K. Hofmann, Bonfield, were married in Bonfield.

THE HINTS on arranging for a trip such as they are taking came from Mrs. Schutz and Rosemarie, who are both agricultural sections of Germany.

A visit to the homeland was made last six or eight months ahead of time, Mrs. Schutz asserted, is wise in her selection of clothing. Even planning as far ahead as we did, we're only getting one cabin on the ship and no private bath!

"CLOTHES WERE hard to get at that time," she said, "and as far as I know they still are. I'm taking my old clothes with me and harvest festival she'll have an opportunity to attend in the village, or two outfits. The last time I gave Mrs. Schutz explained that they away my coats," she laughed. "Things were different when I went back at that time because of the war. The people are the same, but there were some changes in the lay-out of the village because of bombings," she related.

Mrs. Schutz feels that things will be almost back to normal in the little villages when they return this month.

"MY VILLAGE, (Heilbronn), was beautiful," Mr. Schutz said. "If anything is changed—well it just won't be the same. I don't want the picture I have now to be marred."

Mrs. Schutz reminded him that there would inevitably be some differences since his village was more than half wrecked by bombings.

A foreman of the maintenance department of Spicer corporation, Mr. Schutz attended the State Agricultural school in Weinsberg, Germany, during 1915-16. At the age of 18 he was drafted for military service and served 13 months in the First World War. He was attached to the 245th division, serving in a heavy machine gun battalion. He also saw service in France and Belgium.

SUFFERING FROM a shrapnel wound in the right leg, he spent four weeks in a field hospital, after which he was ordered back into service again and continued fighting in the lines until the end of hostilities.

It was the day before Labor Day, September, 1924, when Mr. and Mrs. Schutz arrived in America. Coming directly to Pottstown, he entered the employment of Spicer Manufacturing company on Sept. 15, 1924.

For six years the family resided in Pottstown, where their daughter was born. She was graduated from Pottstown High school in 1945 and several years later entered training in the nurses training school of Pottstown hospital, graduating in 1950. Since that time she has been on duty in a local physician's office.

FOR THE past 22 years the family has resided on Alpine Farm, comprising 20 acres situated along the New Hanover Square highway, near Fagleyville on Perkiomenville RD. 1.

Let summer mud stains on clothing dry thoroughly before you try to remove them. Then brush the stain well before sponging with clear water. If soap and water will not harm the material it may be used. Sponging with alcohol will usually help to remove the last traces of the stain. On colored materials and acetate rayon dilute the alcohol — 1 cup denatured alcohol to 2 cups water.

The first year girls are completing work on their skirts and the second year girls are finishing their dresses.

A county-wide picnic held yesterday at Lenape park was attended by the Kenilworth group.

Those present at the meeting and picnic were: Susan and Jane Rinehart, Judy Rhoads, Nancy and Arlene Berkey, Elaine Miller, Mrs. Wilbur Rinehart, Mrs. Grace Berkey and Mrs. Donald Rhoads.

Scouts of Troop 13 Meet in Church to Do Work on Badges

Girl Scouts of Troop 13 of St. Peter's Church, Stowe, worked on merit badges at their recent meeting held in the church.

New scouts worked on camp craft badge. They whipped rope, learned how to hold, use and carry correctly a knife, hammer, saw, hatchet and light axe. They also learned how to sharpen a knife and axe and how to keep tools in good condition.

The girls were also taught how to assemble and care for a first aid kit and what to do for common ailments and mishaps such as burns, cuts, scratches, blisters, sprains, poison, toothache, etc.

Later they played a relay game.

AT THE same time the upper scouts worked on their minstrel badge, learning a German folk song and a Swiss folk dance.

The girls present were: Janice, Rechel, Barbara Boone, Judy Boyer, Joanne Geisler, Kitty Gilbert, Gerry Haro, Janet Leiber, Yvonne Lucas, Evelyn Moran, Barbara Neiman, Dorothy Norris, Mary Slaby, Barbara Tatman, Janice Weaver, Theresa Weiss, Charlotte Widger, Judy Yost, Carol Weaver, Elaine Krizolo, Mary Ann Wada, Pamela Hoffman and Judy Slaby.

Miss Eleanor Land, Miss Nancy Supplee and Miss Naomi Hartman were leaders present.

Treat fruit and berry stains at once, if possible. They are hard to remove after they dry. Boiling water (if it will not harm the material) or sometimes even warm water will remove most fruit stains. It is best not to use soap in treating the stain, as alkalies in the soap set some fruit and berry stains. Use the same method for removing stains from cooked fruits and berries as from fresh.

A heaped-up plate is discouraging to a toddler. Put just a small amount on his plate and let him ask for second helpings.

White flowers are beautiful, but if you get tired of the same color, just take some vegetable dye, prepare, and dip the flowers.

Hearings Scheduled For 3 Local Men On Liquor Charges

Three employees of the Keystone Fire company of Boyertown will appear before the Berks county Court of Quarter Sessions during the week of Sept. 15 on charges of unlawful sales of liquor and permitting "lewd, immoral and improper entertainment" in the establishment.

Alderman Paul C. Brogley, of Reading, announced yesterday that a prima facie case had been made out against the trio during a hearing held June 17.

At that time, two State Liquor Control agents presented eye-witness testimony of violations against Walter L. Borneman, club chairman; Jenny Bauer, a waitress, and John McNeil, a bartender at the fire company.

The agents said they observed illegal sales of liquor during visits, and witnessed "lewd and suggestive" dances and skits.

BROGLEY HAS held the case under advisement since the hearing to determine whether there was enough proof to establish a case before a jury.

The three defendants who were arrested on May 13, will continue to be held under $300 bonds until their appearance in court.

Fine Favors Building 2d Delaware Bridge

HARRISBURG, July 31 (U.P.)—Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania today came out in favor of construction of a bridge rather than a tunnel as the second Delaware river crossing in the metropolitan Philadelphia area.

The new vehicular crossing would be under the jurisdiction of the Delaware River Port authority, a two-state agency recently authorized by the U. S. Congress.

The bridge proposed by the Governor would run from near Packer avenue, in South Philadelphia, to the vicinity of Passaic street, Gloucester, N. J.

The Delaware river bridge now carries traffic between Philadelphia and Camden, N. J.

New Jersey Governor Driscoll said earlier in the day at Trenton that he was undecided whether a bridge or tunnel should be built but would announce a decision shortly.

Shantz Wins 19th, A's Two

DETROIT, July 31.—The sixth-place Philadelphia Athletics swept a doubleheader with the last-place Detroit Tigers today, taking the second game, 3-2, after little Bobby Shantz recorded his 19th victory by a 2-1 margin in the opener.

The A's rallied with three runs in the ninth inning to win the nightcap. The twin victories gave the Athletics a record of 15 games won in the last 25 starts.

Shantz struck out seven and walked only two in outpitching young shortstop Bill Hoffer, who gave all seven of the Athletics hits in the eighth inning he worked. As it turned out all three of the game's runs were unearned.

Right-hander Virgil Trucks had the second game all sewed up going into the ninth inning, 2-0, mainly on his first major league home run in the sixth and Walt Dropo's 19th in the seventh up to that point Trucks had held the A's to five hits and only two of the runners had gotten as far as third.

Trucks got the first man in the ninth to strike out but pinchhitter Alie Clark and Keith Thomas singled and doubled, respectively, to give the A's new hope. Skeeter Kell ran for Clark and came home on a passed ball by catcher Matt Batts. Pinchhitter Carl Scheib then fanned off Eddie Joost singled, scoring Thomas to tie the score and came home himself with the winning run on Fair's double to left.

The victory was credited to Alex Kellner, his eighth against nine defeats, and the loss was Trucks' 13th against four victories.

6-Run Indian Rally Trips Bosox, 8-2; Lemon Wins

CLEVELAND, July 31.—A six-run rally in the eighth inning, featuring a two-run homer by Joe Tipton, gave the Cleveland Indians an 8-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the rubber game of a series today before a crowd of 11,574.

Tipton's homer broke a 2-2 deadlock and ignited a rally that also included a two-run triple by Larry Doby and a double by Al Rosen. Bob Lemon recorded his 12th victory against eight defeats, allowing the Red Sox seven hits, including a two-run homer in the fourth by Del Wilber. It was Wilber's first homer of the season.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

MEYER FIRMEN, the typographer, has a nine-year-old son, Michael, who is a near-prodigy at the piano, with a general I. Q. to match. At a party the other evening at the Wagnerman's the conversation drifted around to Gertrude Stein, and one guest thought he'd test young Michael's knowledge. "Mike," he demanded, "when I say a rose is a rose is a rose, what does it mean to you?" Michael promptly answered, "Whiskey."

John Firmin, an FBI man for several years, was covering a case in Boston when one of the bluebloods from Beacon Hill asked him where he hailed from. "Findlay, Ohio," said Firmin. "Ah, yes, Ohio," said the blueblood thoughtfully. "I was there once. My plane had to make a forced landing on the way back from Santa Barbara." Firmin's stock went up when he reminded the Bostoner that Findlay was the home of William Dean Howells' "A Hazard of New Fortunes"—the story of one of the earliest gas booms in the history of the country.

Pentagon Swamped By Saucer Questions

WASHINGTON, July 31 (U.P.)—The Air Force said today it was getting so many flying saucer queries that regular intelligence work has been flooded of questions led him to send many to the office of the director. Most of the inquiries are from military intelligence for reply. The director's office, in turn, has the public, harassed Pentagon spokesmen said.

One man in the Pentagon press relations section is working full time on the saucer queries. A new regular intelligence work has been flooded of questions led him to send many to the office of the director. Most of the inquiries are from military intelligence for reply. The director's office, in turn, has the public, harassed Pentagon spokesmen said.

United Fund Off to Good Start

The smiles on the faces of these members of the budget and admissions committee of the United Fund seem to denote approval as they review potential budgets of organizations applying to the UF for support. Seated left to right they are Mrs. H. T. Schneider, Elmer Jackson, newly-appointed chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Frank A. Munkasey. Looking on from the rear with equal approval are Vinicio Fisher, executive secretary of the UF and J. Alfred Marquet.

United Fund Groups Elect Chairman, Plan Fall Drive

Members of the budget and admissions committee of the newly-organized Pottstown United Fund met for the first time last night to elect a chairman and discuss conditions under which independent organizations will be admitted to participate in the charity fund raising drive scheduled for the fall.

Vinicio Fisher, executive secretary for UF, announced that Elmer J. Jackson was chosen to head the committee comprised of Ernest Struckmann, Paul Sidley, Mrs. Henry Schneider, Ralph Maack, Robert Heffner, Raymond Elliott, J. Albert Marquet and Mrs. Frank A. Munkasey.

The committee will screen groups applying for UF support, review budget requests and make fund allocations dependent on the community's potential.

Plans were also discussed at last night's session to interview leaders of selected organizations at a meeting scheduled for Aug. 11.

Appearing before the committee at that time will be representatives of the Boy Scouts, the Visiting Nurse organization, Children's Aid

Guncotton Nightgown Causes Woman's Death

LEUNEBURG, Germany, July 31 (AP)—A nightgown made of explosive guncotton was blamed for the death today of Ella Dobrich, a 47-year-old German housewife. The nightgown went ablaze yesterday afternoon after Frau Dobrich went to bed. The past Sunday, police said, they theorized that a stray spark from the kitchen set it off.

Police are searching for the shop that sold the shirt.

Wish of Death in Church Is Realized by Man

TEXARKANA, Ark., July 31 (AP)—Testifying last night at services in a Baptist church at nearby Doddridge, Ark., Henry Field urged his listeners to rededicate themselves and prepare for death.

"If it wasn't for the communion it would cause," he said, "I'd like to go right here in my church."

He slumped backwards dead. Field's death was attributed to a heart attack.

Truck Comes Out Best in 3-Vehicle Collision on Rt. 29

Two automobiles and a truck were damaged at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon on Route 29 at the driveway leading to the Eastern Bible Institute, Green Lane, when one car stopped suddenly to turn into the driveway.

None of the five persons involved was injured.

Roy J. Svendsen, of Brooklyn, N. Y., crashed his north-bound 1946 sedan to make the turn and a truck driven by Raymond D. Fink, 16, of Macungie, plowed into the sedan when Fink could not halt the truck in time.

A 1951 sedan driven by Millie Drake, 20, of Bethlehem, rammed the rear of the truck when Miss Drake was unable to brake her car in time.

MIRIAM JOHANSEN, 15, of Brooklyn, was a passenger in Iersenville State Police sub-station, Svendsen's car, and Viola Wood, who investigated the accident, estimated, 55, a passenger in Miss Drake's car and the truck. $250 to Miss Drake's car and Pvt. George Tuckey, of the Jef. $100 to Svendsen's auto.

The courage of New England was the "Courage of Conscience." It did not rise to that insane and awful passion, the love of war for itself.—Rufus Choate.

Maybe We're Not Seeing Things

POTTSTOWN seems to have lost to do minding its own business instead of watching flying saucers in the skies.

People who deem such things as flying saucers properly are pleased with Pottstown's sanity. But it does not surprise others that "sightings" of flying saucers have now reached a rate exceeding anything since 1927. We predict that the "sightings" will go on increasing with each new report of a sighting.

The latest report comes from Washington, where radar screens recorded unexplained blips which were taken to represent the presence of "four to 12 unidentified objects."

Radar did not reveal that the objects were saucers. It takes a human being to decide that something unknown must be a flying saucer, and not a bird, or a cloud, or a weather balloon.

Anyway, the Air Force sent up jet interceptors. They did not find anything, but one pilot reported strange lights moving at 600 miles an hour.

On the radar screen the "unidentified objects" had moved slowly—35 to 90 miles an hour—but that of course only proves that flying saucers, as is known, can hover or loaf along and then put on a terrific burst of speed to avoid pursuit.

Some persons want to believe in flying saucers. The air force says there's no danger of any invasion by persons from other planets. They say the "flying saucers" are light reflections.

But not all persons will take stock in the air force's assurance. They want to believe Mars is looking us over—or maybe some other planet. For them, that's the way it is.

Pictures for Road Signs

PICTURES, as well as words, are employed in a set of road signs which have been approved by traffic experts from five continents for worldwide use after two years of studies and field tests. The idea is that the meaning will be clear to travelers even though they do not understand the language of the country they are passing through. It seems evident that the signs will also be more immediately meaningful even to those who are perfectly familiar with the words, for the pictures carry the whole story in a universal language.

The sign with the word "Children" bears a silhouette of two children walking, the larger with a hand on the arm of the smaller as they cross the street. "Slippery Road" is accompanied by a drawing of an automobile with tracks which describe S's. "Drawbridge" shows a drawbridge opening.

Already road signs with pictures on them are in limited use in this country, but the makers adopted by the international experts suggest that they could be used much more widely to good purpose. A picture may convey a message so quickly that a motorist may see, comprehend and act upon it in less time than he would require to make out the letters of a worded warning. When immediate and sure communication in this vital field is available in pictures as well as words, it is overlooking a good bet not to make use of both.

Memo for 1936

A poll could be taken of the television audience, we feel sure it would be unanimous on one thing—that something must be done about the time-consuming polls of delegations.

It may be that not every delegate who clutched the microphone to challenge the accuracy of the vote and to demand a poll of the delegation was merely trying to crowd into the television screen.

But whatever the motive the results were the same—the business of the convention was snarled up and time was wasted.

There are good reasons sometimes for recording the individual votes of delegates, but it does not have to be done at the expense of the entire convention.

The best idea we have heard is the suggestion that when a poll is demanded a clerk should be sent to the delegation to take down names and votes, the results to be announced at the end of the regular roll call, which would proceed without interruption.

This would preserve the right to a poll without tying up the convention—and probably reduce the demands for a poll in manageable proportions.

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where Adlai says he wants his campaign to be short. Or, as the Republicans would advise, the less said the better.

Now that the conventions and the steel strike are over, things should be comparatively quiet. We'll need the rest, and a coal strike to look forward to.

And says Farouk lost out in Egypt because of Army corruption. It seems too much gold got mixed up with the brass. Hopin' you air the same.

New Borough Manager Impresses Him

Good Approach

To the Editor: That new borough manager for Pottstown sounds like a good man.

I noticed in that story you had in The Mercury he didn't blow or boast about how good he is or what wonders he's going to do as soon as he gets here.

No, instead of that he just sensibly pointed out that Pottstown has more than its share of problems, and that it's going to take a lot of hard work and co-operation among all borough officials to even start to solve them.

When a top borough official comes here with such an attitude, willing to pitch in and really work for the good of the community, I believe it's a good sign for the town.

North End

OPTIMISTIC

Praises Gardeners

To the Editor: Your strip of pictures and story on Pottstown gardeners the other morning really warmed my heart.

With all the trouble going on in the world, it's good to realize that many everyday people are minding their own business, and raising food for themselves and their families.

If more people would dig gardens and cultivate crops, they'd have less time to get into trouble and the world might be in better shape than it is today.

Pottstown OLD FASHIONED

They Work Hard

To the Editor: If anyone on the borough payroll deserves a pat on the back it's the water department repair crew working under the supervision of Harvey Hines.

What usually would take a private contractor two to three days to make a break in a street, dig a ditch and repair a main water pipe, these hard-working men do in half a day which includes sealing up the hole.

Pottstonians should be thankful to an efficient crew like this one for not tying up street traffic any more than is absolutely necessary.

For an example of their competent work there are the recent jobs done by the water department on King street, between Penn and Hanover and in the 200 block in North Charlotte street.

My hat's off to these hard workers!

Pottstown OBSERVANT

Survey Is Unsound

To the Editor: Why do county officials have to make a visual survey of some of Pottstown's old streets?

I don't see why old streets have to be included in the proposed bond issue. If the streets are in need of repairs, as most of them are, why not go to work on the regular maintenance of them as should be done?

If the only way to have streets repaired is to float a new bond issue there can't be a very good system in the borough for upkeep of them.

Old streets should not be considered in the bond issue unless the borough plans a thorough job of pulling up the entire old street and repaving it.

Keeping a street in good order is a problem of maintenance and if the borough cannot provide the maintenance for the streets already here, then it should forget about building anymore to go to pot for lack of proper care.

Pottstown BROKEN SPRING

WASHINGTON

Stevenson and Ike To Wage Clean Fight

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, July 31—First reports from the Stevenson and Eisenhower camps suggest that the two nominees will wage the cleanest and most high-principled presidential campaign in American political history.

As "civilized" men, neither believes that the presidency should go to the candidate who can think up and mouth the foulest epithets and most one-sided charges.

Their strategy will be, according to word from Denver and Springfield, to profess the deepest respect for each other, but to qualify this personal compliment by insinuating that each is controlled by a selfish and disreputable coterie of promoters.

Ike will say that Governor Stevenson carries the worn and tattered banner of "Trumanism." Adlai will respond that his opponent represents the Dewey-Aldrich, Wall Street interests in their attempt to take over the government, and utilize its vast political and financial power for their own advantage.

If this preview of their plans were correct, the soldier and the scholar would disappoint the hopes of millions who believe that the two major parties have named their most promising standard bearers in many years.

That kind of a campaign would be nothing more than shadow-bogging, and the two men are too sincere to indulge in such a sham. Nor would it resolve any of the grave questions confronting the United States and the world in this fateful year.

DIVERGENCE: The fact is that both Eisenhower and Stevenson have already made oblique but definite efforts to repudiate charges that they will wear a Dewey or Truman collar, respectively.

It would be ungracious and politically indiscreet for them to advertise their divergence. But both are too smart not to appreciate that they must campaign without any binding obligations to anybody, especially a Truman who did not dare renomination, and a twice-defeated Dewey.

Following the Republican convention, the New York Governor headed for Albany and has not been heard from since. Only a minor member of his retinue, a public relations adviser, has been retained by Ike.

Eisenhower's personally picked national chairman, Arthur E. Summerfield of Michigan, has never belonged to the Dewey clique within the organization.

Neither has Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, who will serve as Ike's personal liaison man with the party headquarters.

As he promised in his acceptance speech, the GOP nominee is consulting local, state and Congressional leaders before he sets out on the stump, in contrast to Dewey's complete neglect of them.

HANDICAP: Governor Stevenson's principal political reason for not announcing his candidacy last March, when Truman begged him to do so, was that he did not want to become known as a "White House snoop." He felt it would be a handicap. But he persisted in this strategy so stubbornly that he almost lost the nomination.

Two contrasting passages in speeches by Truman and the newly-nominated Stevenson when they appeared together on the convention platform, reflect the two men's varying views on politics and government. In a characteristic, rattle-raising outburst that was a rewrite of one of his 1944 "whistle-stop" orations, Truman said: "You know the real reason the Democrats win elections is a perfectly simple reason. Because the Democratic party gives the American people the kind of government they want."

In complete conflict with this nakedly selfish revelation of Truman's attitude toward party and government responsibility, Stevenson said:

"Sacrifice, patience, understanding and implacable purposes may be our lot for years to come. Let's face it. Let's talk sense to the American people."

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

LOUISE R. 35, has been married for 12 years.

"Dr. Crane, do you think I am a victim of a glandular deficiency?" she inquired, anxiously.

"I have three children, now in grammar school and am a normal woman in all respects, except for the fact that my breasts are very small."

"However I was able to nurse all of my babies for more than six months."

"But I have developed a complex about my small breasts. Isn't there anything that I can do to develop them?"

"I have been massaging them with cocoa butter and have been doing shoulder and chest exercises for 6 months, but without noticeable success."

HARDLY A DAY passes that I do not encounter this problem several times. If it isn't a small breast that serves as the basis of the complex, then it may be unduly large or pendulous breasts.

Louise must get a broader perspective of life so that her minor physical complaint will become relatively insignificant.

She has a husband who loves her, plus three healthy youngsters. Besides, she nursed each of the latter for more than six months, which is something the average mother today cannot boast of.

Louise needs to develop new interests as a means of forgetting herself.

During puberty the use of glandular injections sometimes helps the development of a girl's breasts.

But in an otherwise normal adult woman like Louise, it is futile to think of glandular injections as a remedy for small breasts.

The latter are simply characteristic of some women, just like the size of their nose or ears, and as such must be accepted as gracefully as possible.

The breast is composed of some secretory tissue, plus fat. Louise has very normal breasts as regards their milk tissues, for she nursed her babies.

But she doesn't have the fat behind and surrounding the mammary tissue. The large, full breast is chiefly fat, anyway, and often not as good a milk producer as the flabby breast.

The breast isn't muscle at all, so you need not hope to develop your breast by massage.

If anything, massage may cause a breakdown of the fatty tissue in the breast and thus reduce its size or make it flabby.

If a woman is rather thin, she can increase the size of her breasts somewhat by putting on more weight, for the breast is a common site for the deposit of excess fat. And exercise of the pectoral muscles under the breasts may enlarge them, hence pushing the breasts outward.

Otherwise, the proper thing to do is wear an uplift type of brassiere and forget yourself. Divert your attention.

Polio epidemics are apt to occur at this time, but occasional cases are also reported when there is no epidemic. Sometimes one case in a community.

The first symptoms of polio may be a mild cold, or a stomach or bowel upset. As the disease progresses, it attacks the nerves and paralyzes the muscles, causing severe cramps and pain. The paralysis may affect the legs, arms, or the entire body.

If it strikes the nerves or muscles that control breathing, the person may have to be put in an iron lung, or respirator, to keep his breathing going.

Poliovirus is caused by a very tiny germ, called a virus, and strikes from five to 35 days after the person has picked up the infection.

Fortunately, most cases do not bring serious paralysis. The person may just feel sick and have mild nervous symptoms. Usually, however, a stiff neck and fever are warning signs just before the paralysis.

In the last few months a great deal of research has been going on to find out if a child who is vaccinated in the polio season is more apt to catch the disease. It has been found that in children vaccinated a short while before catching polio, the disease tends to be slightly more severe than in those not vaccinated. In addition, the paralysis usually occurs on the vaccinated leg or arm.

There is also some evidence that children, recently vaccinated, especially against diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough, have a greater tendency to develop polio than those not receiving these injections. Your doctor may thus decide to postpone vaccinations until after the polio season.

However, children less than a year old do not have a great tendency to catch polio following vaccination, and this is just the age when most of the vaccinations are given. For this reason, it may be desirable to postpone vaccinations only if the child is more than a year old.

Eisenhower Urged To Bid for Middle Ground in Campaign

GENEVILLE, July 31 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, was urged today to set up a program aimed at rallying to his support 10 million more voters than now are enrolled as Republicans.

He also was advised from another quarter to court "the great middle ground" of American voters in his bid for the White House, and to disregard "the extreme right and the extreme left."

That advice was given to Eisenhower by Republican Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska, who conferred with the general at campaign headquarters here.

Peterson told newsmen "the middle ground is the sound, solid core of America," and added: "What is where the votes are and that is where the heart and hopes of America are."

THE PLAN to rally ten million more voters was outlined in the general by Walter Williams, Seattle, and Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, New York, co-chairmen of the National Citizens for Eisenhower committee—an organization which played a leading role in helping win the nomination for Eisenhower.

The program they set forth at a conference with the general, called for continuing the committee and expanding its activities.

After the conference, Williams told reporters Eisenhower likes the plan very much but withheld a final decision pending discussion of it at a round of talks scheduled to start here tomorrow with campaign leaders. Williams and Mrs. Lord will sit in at those talks.

Williams made public a letter which he and Mrs. Lord read to the general. It said in part:

"There is agreement that some ten million more people than are currently enrolled as Republicans must be found to vote as Republicans in 1952.

"Clearly, these ten million can be found only among Democrats, independents, disaffected Republicans, new voters and young people, women, organized labor, certain ethnic groups, farmers and the apathetic."

"To many in these categories, the regular Republican organization has little appeal, but rather the reverse."

The citizen committee leaders added that for this reason "you require not only the regular professional Republican organization, but also an organization of amateur standing, so to speak, but built and operated on sound business principles."

Williams and Mrs. Lord said the citizens committee can fill that role. They proposed that the committee work closely with the Republican National committee headed by Arthur E. Summerfield. They suggested to Eisenhower, that the citizens unit have independent status.

Williams said Summerfield—who will attend the strategy conferences starting here tomorrow—had not seen the detailed program which he and Mrs. Lord presented to the general. But he added that he had discussed the matter with the national chairman.

"We are in general agreement as to the targets to be achieved," Williams said. "I think basically that we see eye to eye."

Williams declared it was "only fair to say" that the Democrats nominated a strong ticket last week in picking Gov. Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, as their presidential candidate and Sen. John J. Sparkman, of Alabama, as his running mate.

Steel Negotiations Halt on Company's Technicality Stand

COATESVILLE, July 31 (AP)—A disagreement between officials of the CIO United Steelworkers and representatives of the Lukens Steel company, over interpretation of the interim agreement made last week by big steel and the U.S.W., has halted negotiations at the strike-bound plant.

Lukens announced today the union refused to accept the company's offer to sign the same agreement by which the 4000 production and maintenance employees would return to work pending agreement on a new contract.

Charles Ford, regional representative of the steel union, said the White House agreement, reached last Friday, which broke the nation-wide steel strike, stipulates that any issue not covered in the basic economic interim agreement, is to be resolved by the terms of the old contract.

Lukens held that the old contract is now void and the "White House" in the United States is called "two-

House interim agreement does not provide for any such former commitments remaining in force.

A CHECK of big steel industries revealed the opinion that interpretation is still under discussion and has not been clarified by either union or industry.

Union and company officials, who had been meeting daily since Saturday, ended their session yesterday in a deadlock without setting any specific time for resumption of their bargaining.

Schnauzer Falls Heir To Home in Country

PHILADELPHIA, July 31 (AP)—Oh, the life of a dog.

Buddy is a 3-year-old Schnauzer who is heir to a home in the country and $15,000 to keep bones on his plate for life.

All this was left to Buddy by his master, Oscar Thiem, of Philadelphia, whose will was filed for probate today with the register of wills.

Thiem, an expert in the handling of estates, died July 23 at the age of 68. He wrote a will May 15, 1951, which said in part:

"I will retire from business, which I have carried on for 40 years and move to a country residence near Philadelphia, which property I give outright, with all its furnishings, automobile and other contents to my faithful housekeeper, Miss Anna Stoll, with $15,000 in cash for living expenses and the care of my pet dog, Buddy, until his death."

Drama at California Beach

Other swimmers excitedly gesture (foreground) as a swimmer (arrow), caught by the outgoing tide, threshes wildly in the Pacific off a beach at Venice, Calif. However, life guards already have reached him and a rescue boat (upper left) is approaching.

1st 'Copter Crossing Complete

PRESTWICK, Scotland, July 31 — Two American helicopters made the first flying windmill crossing of the Atlantic ocean today and broke the non-stop distance record for this type of aircraft.

The two big Sikorsky H-19s loaded down with extra gas and each carrying a pilot and copilot thrashed across the 850 miles of ocean between Keflavik, Iceland and Prestwick—the last leg of a historic making journey from West over Air Force base in Massachusetts.

The crews said instruments showed they actually covered 926 miles in their efforts to evade bad weather. In any event, they bested the helicopter distance record set in 1946 in a flight of 707 1/2 miles between Dayton, O., and Boston.

Whirling along at a leisurely 90 mile an hour pace, the two craft sometimes were so low today they had to dodge icebergs. They made the last hop in 11 hours and had three hours of fuel left when they landed.

Plot Course of 'Flying Ghosts'

Airways operations specialists James M. Copeland (left) and James M. Ritchey, both of Alexandria, Va., check the radarscope at Washington National Airport. The government radar station has recorded "scores" of strange objects traveling at speeds of 100 to 120 miles an hour in a 10 mile arc around the nation's capital. Orders have been issued to interceptor plane pilots by the Air Force to shoot down the objects if they refuse to land.

First Meeting Planned By 'Lost Chord' Clubs

CLEVELAND, July 31 — Five hundred persons who talk by a system of controlled belching meet here tomorrow to form their first international organization.

All of the delegates, members of various "lost chord" clubs have had their larynx or voice box removed because of cancer. The two-day convention here is called the first international meeting of laryngectomized persons.

Left without a voice by their throat operations the victims have learned to talk by a method known as esophageal speech. They swallow air and expel it slowly with a "hurrp" sound forming words with their mouths as the air goes out.

WASHINGTON, July 31 — A Municipal court jury today began hearing testimony on columnist Drew Pearson's charge that he was punched by Attorney Charles Patrick Clark.

'Treasure Chest' West Busts Into Court Suit

MILWAUKEE, July 31 — A dispute over a "treasure chest" busted out into the open today when a bosomy beauty accused a burlesque entrepreneur of unfair competition.

Miss Patricia McQuillan of Petersburg, Ill., known to the girls show faithful as "Evening (Treasure Chest) West," filed a Federal court complaint charging Graham said today India and Pakistan have agreed to renew negotiations on the Kashmir question at a ministerial level. The talks on the future of the disputed princely State will begin Aug. 25 in Geneva, Switzerland, Graham said.

Chest," and "$50,000 Treasure Chest," and like appellations were established as her trade mark by continuous use.

Furthermore, she asked that such use by Fox be nipped short and that she be granted damages of $25,000 plus such profits as Fox may have made from use of the phrase.

Headed Across New Bridge

The Pottstown plant of Bethlehem Steel company supplied most of the 33,000 tons of steel needed to construct the 4.3-mile long bridge across Chesapeake bay, connecting eastern and western Maryland. The new $45,000,000-span was dedicated Wednesday morning with former Maryland Governor W. Preston Lane Jr. (left), and his successor, Theodore R. McKeldin, leading a motorcade across the bridge. George P. Buflard, Bethlehem Steel company's eastern erection district manager, and his assistant, Michael A. Matlock, 264 Lee avenue, supervised construction of the span.

2 Fined $10 Each For Panhandling

Two men who were arrested Wednesday night on charges of panhandling at South Hanover street and the Reading Railroad station concourse were ordered to pay $10 in fines and costs each last night, by Justice of the Peace Richard H. Cadmus, of the Seventh ward.

Emmett Brown, of Pittsburgh, and Armstead Hill, 213 Second street, Tunnel Hill, near Phoenixville, the defendants, were directed to remit the money as soon as they receive their first pay checks when they return to work.

The men claimed they expected to be re-employed by a Phoenixville steel company. They explained that they had been panhandling because they had been on strike and had no money.

Although there is some matter in open space, it is a much better vacuum than can be produced on earth.

Minister 'Resting Well'; Collapsed Chasing Train

The Rev. John H. Butler, 85, of Philadelphia, who became ill at High and Franklin streets late Wednesday night while hurrying to board a train at the Reading Railroad station, was reported "resting well" at Pottstown hospital last night.

The minister was on his way home after visiting friends in the borough.

Borough police drove him to the hospital where he was admitted with a possible heart ailment. There was no definite diagnosis of his illness last night.

Police Reject Red Rally in British Zone

BERLIN, July 31 (AP)—West Berlin police struck twin blows today at a Communist youth rally planned for next Sunday in the British sector.

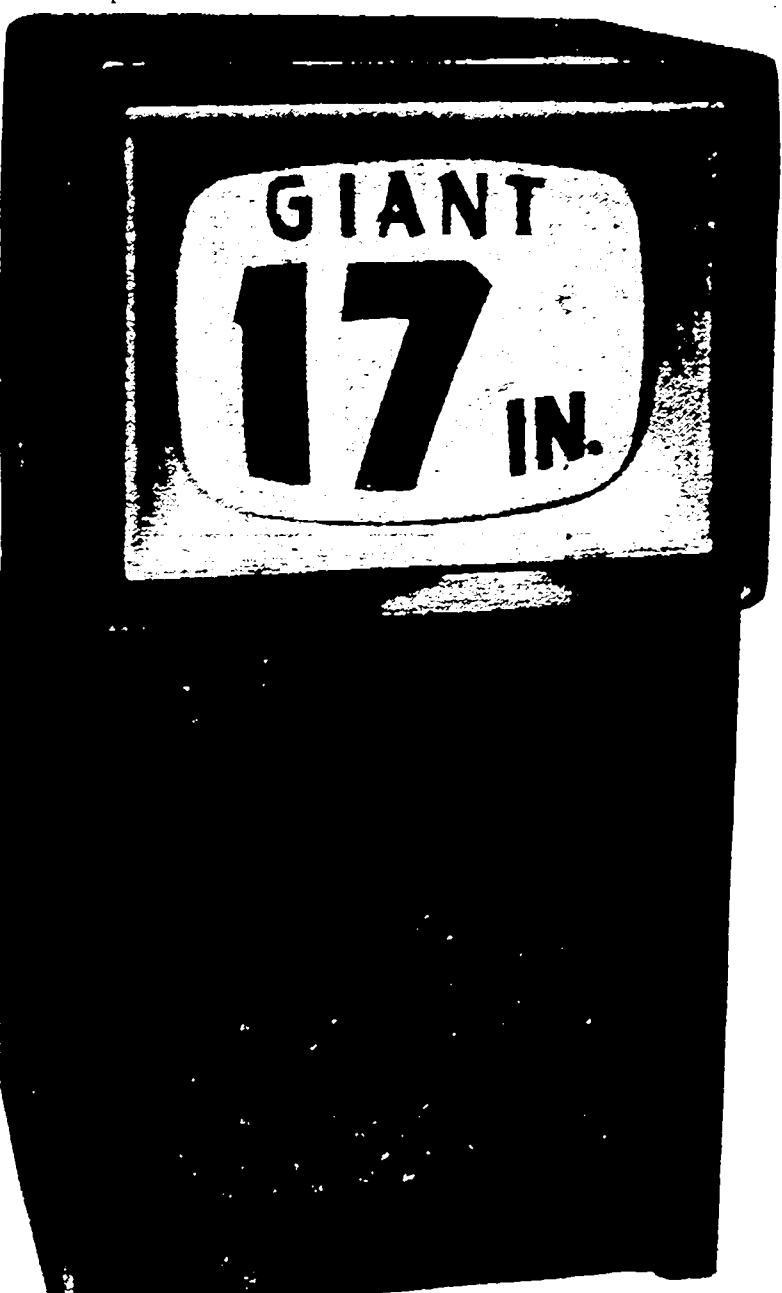

An application for permission to hold the rally of 10,000 "free German youth" was rejected by civil authorities on the ground it would disrupt the peace. Police squadrons raided 27 homes of known pro-Reds and seized thousands of pamphlets, posters and signs intended for use in the planned demonstration.

The Russian sector press had announced the rally would be dedicated to "demanding a peace treaty for all Germany."

Although court jesters early in the Middle Ages often were mental defectives, in later times they sometimes were outstanding men who rose to important positions.
